WHAT WE DO

35 years combined experience of crafting luxury homes.

We produce high-performance, compacAt Hemming and Nicoll we bring a wealth of experience and a passion for crafting luxury homes to every project we undertake. With a background deeply rooted in carpentry, founders Travis Hemming and Reece Nicoll have been leading the way in high-end residential construction. Our focus is simple yet profound: to create exceptional living spaces that are architecturally designed, meticulously detailed, and built with unwavering dedication to quality. We collaborate closely with our clients and esteemed architects to deliver homes that are truly unique, thoughtful, and built for living.

We couldn't have been happier with not only the end result, but with the entire build process with Travis, Reece and the team. We used an architect, and Hemming & Nicoll worked extremely closely with them to achieve the high end outcome we were working towards. Their professionalism was well balanced with their approachability and eagerness to get the best result no matter the circumstances. Their work really is great; and they are honest and true to their word. We can't wait for our next project together.
